

Anderson Co. Administrative Office Anderson, South Carolina

Design South provided preliminary design services to relocate all non-court related offices located in the Anderson County Courthouse. Anderson County selected the old Kroger grocery store located at 401 East River Street to become the future home of these departments.

The existing entrance was suggested to be demolished to accommodate a new entrance structure that was designed to reflect the other County historical departmental buildings. Exterior building renovations include partial brick veneer, synthetic stucco accents and new windows on front facade.

The interior was suggested to be completely renovated and the approximately 45,500 square foot would house the following departments: the county treasurer, auditor, assessor, register of deeds, building and codes, mailroom, and building and grounds offices
